American Watch Winder.

SOMETHING NEW
And worthy of the Consideration of Every One who possesses a Watch.

THE AMERICAN WATCH WINDER, superior to any watch winding device, (not excepting the stem winder), does not affect the time and can be applied to almost any watch. It is durable, and when applied it becomes a part of the watch, yet can be detached for the purpose of setting the hands, and readily replaced.
Being a fixture to the watch it is always convenient and can be wound as readily in the dark as in the light. Avoids the necessity of hunting up the key and the perplexity which might result from the loss of it.
It tends to keep the watch clean, as it is an well known fact that more dirt and dust reaches the movement of the watch through the use of the common key, than from any other source.
If no one but you wind your watch, and when once used, you will never discard it.
The AMERICAN WATCH WINDER is first sold and applied by all Watch Dealers and Jewellers.
For further information, enquire of your watch maker. cod [illegible]

NEW MAGAZINES.

Readers of the ATLANTIC who have begun Mr. Aldrich's Queen of Sheba, and Mr. Howells's A Counterfeit Presentment, will be pretty sure to turn first to the amusing and clever chapters given in the September number. There is another story in the number called The Child of the State, which has suspicious looking initials attached to it, but will be read for its own sake. G. P. Lathrop has a paper of quiet humor and observation entitled Waverly Oaks, and E. P. Whipple an essay upon Dickens's Great Expectations. Of the poetry one piece will pretty surely be read by those who have seen previous flower fancies by the author, Edgar Fawcett; this one is entitled Box. There are two critical papers, Fictitious Lives of Chaucer, by Professor Lounsbury, of Yale College, and a Study of De Stendhal, by Eugene Benson. Hon. D. A. Wells writes the solid article of the number, Are Titles and Debts Property? Charles Hale, formerly United States Consul in Egypt, tells of Consular Life there, and the illustrated papers on Crude and Curious Inventions have passed from Music to Husbandry. There are some amusing passages in the Contributors' Club and several reviews of new books. H. O. Houghton & Co., Boston, Publishers, 35 cents a number; $4.00 a year.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE.—For its steel engraving the Eclectic for September contains a fine portrait of the famous musical composer, Richard Wagner and his music by the Rev. H. R. Haweis, one of the most competent of living musical critics and an enthusiastic admirer of the Wagnerian music-drama. This portrait and article are alone worth the price of the number. Among the other literary contents are, Drifting Light Waves, by Richard A. Proctor, B. A., F. R. S.; Round the World in a Yacht, by Thomas Brassey, M. P.; That [illegible]; German Schools, by Walter Perry; An Apology for Idlers, Life and Times of [illegible] a Becket, by James Anthony [illegible]; My Peculiarity, a poem, by [illegible] Leigh; The Story of the Prism, [illegible] in Holland, on and off Canvas, by Vernes; A Feather; Notes on the [illegible] Distribution of Animals, by Kirby, naturalist; additional chapters [illegible] Young Musgrave, by Mrs. Oliphant; [illegible] Diplomacy; Japanese Miniature Cap—A New England Dog; Dresden [illegible] and its Manufactory at Meissen, [illegible] Vital Forces; and The Melancholy Ocean. Published by E. R. Pelton, [illegible] Street, New York.

[illegible] LIVING AGE. The numbers [illegible] weeks ending Aug. 11th and 18th, [illegible]tively, have the following valuable [illegible]: Morality in Politics, by the [illegible] of Argyll, Contemporary Review; [illegible] Times of Thomas Becket, by Jas. [illegible] Froude, Part II., Nineteenth Century; Dresden China and its Manufactory [illegible] Saxony, Blackwood; Virgil as [illegible] between the Ancient and Modern [illegible] Contemporary; The Peak in Darien: the Riddle of Death, by Frances Cobbe, New Quarterly; The First [illegible] at the Bar, Quarterly; The [illegible] Piper, a story of the West Highlands, Chambers's Journal; A Princess' [illegible] Fitting, Temple Bar; Ancient [illegible] of Embalming the Dead, Sunday at [illegible]; Distances of the Stars, Popular [illegible] Review; Famous English Printers, [illegible]; Unsuspecting Ways of Earning a [illegible], Chambers's Journal, etc.; [illegible] installment of Pauline from advance [illegible] and the conclusion of The Little [illegible] of the Batignolles, a chapter from [illegible]'s Memoirs, translated for The [illegible] Age from the French of Emile Ga[illegible], and the usual choice poetry. Littell & Gay, Boston, are the publishers.

[illegible]'S AMERICAN MONTHLY for September [illegible] with the third paper on Civic [illegible], New England—Portland, the Mountains and Lake Winnipiseogee, [illegible] S. Senter. The eighth paper [illegible] Architectural Progress—Ecclesiastical [illegible] Architecture in the United States, by Rev. [illegible] will be found to possess [illegible] interest and value, from the fact [illegible] relates entirely to architecture in [illegible]. Following these we notice a paper on The Amazons of Mexico, [illegible] Oakes Smith, which sustains [illegible] awakened in the first chapter; [illegible] it is saying a good deal. The His[illegible] is both strange and curious, [illegible] power, as graphically portrayed, [illegible] The Spectre of Seneca Lake, by [illegible] Mollie; A Court day in the Morlach [illegible], by W. W. Crane; The puzzle of [illegible]; Devil [illegible] Old and Now; [illegible] the Story of a Hermit, and Sierra [illegible], by a Topographer, are contributions [illegible] especially attractive. No one should [illegible] read the Sierra Nevada paper, written [illegible] Peak; it is a most graphic [illegible] picture of the Sierras. Published [illegible] N. E. Potter & Co., Philadelphia.

OTHER SELVES.—The influence of [illegible] companionship over character is [illegible]. If we have a dear friend, that [illegible] unavoidably exercises a certain [illegible] over our thoughts and actions. Yet [illegible] an intimacy, more close, constant [illegible] powerful in its effects than that of an [illegible] or friend, however near or [illegible]. We are all conscious of the ties of a [illegible] self; we prove or condemn ourselves, [illegible] or mistake ourselves. The [illegible] self-acquaintance, self-love, [illegible] self-defence, self-control; all [illegible] granted this quality. Who and [illegible] is this boon companion, this [illegible] friend, who is conversant with [illegible] secret of our souls, whom we can [illegible] deceive and from whom we can [illegible] escape? The influence of all other [illegible], however great, sinks into [illegible] before the all-prevailing sway, [illegible] may be described as self-hood [illegible] any term consciousness [illegible]

CUCUMBER PICKLES.

The pickles of small cucumbers should be carefully assorted as they come from the field, and all large ones salted by themselves or thrown away. The large ones need more salt; are harder to keep and to prepare for sale, and sell for much less. A cucumber that begins to grow yellow, or is too large to count 100 to the bushel, should not be salted at all. The medium sized ones, counting about 300 to the bushel, are the sizes mostly wanted. As soon as assorted, they should be placed in empty beef barrels or molasses hogsheads and covered with brine; the brine is made strong enough to float a potato, and the pickles are kept under by a head fitting the barrel loosely, and loaded with one or two stones of about 200 pounds weight each for a hogshead; the brine soon becomes weak by absorbing the fresh juice of the pickles, and will need to be drawn off and poured on again in order to thoroughly mix the stronger brine at the bottom of the package with the portion at the top, which is weaker. This should be repeated two or three times at intervals of two or three days, and if the brine is on large pickles a few handfuls of salt added each time. If carefully kept under the brine and the surface of the brine kept equally mixed with what is below, there will be no trouble in keeping them.

They are taken out of the brine several days before wanted for sale, and placed in fresh, cold water, which must be changed as often as convenient—say two or three times a day—and after four or five days they will be fresh enough to receive the vinegar. The strongest of white wine (whiskey) vinegar is used, and allspice and pepper added to taste. There is no need of scalding either the pickles or vinegar; if the latter is strong enough they will keep. Cider vinegar is of uncertain strength, and is often too weak to keep pickles after the warm weather begins. If the vinegar is not strong enough, scalding will do no good. Pickles thus prepared are known as English pickles, and have a dull yellowish-brown color, imparted by the brine. The bright green color often seen in the pickles in market is imparted by scalding them, when taken out of the brine, in a copper kettle; they absorb enough verdigris from the kettle to give them the desired color, and yet so little that copper poisoning from eating pickles is a thing unknown. Still it is one of the signs of increasing knowledge of what is done in preparing our food, and of care in rejecting anything suspicious, that the green pickle, so universally used a few years since, is fast becoming unpopular, and giving place to the English pickle, prepared without copper. Peppers, beans, cauliflowers, unripe melons and martynias are prepared in the same way as cucumbers.—Country Gentleman.

PRESSING FLOWERS. The Little Schoolma'am, a few days ago, was showing the children how to press flowers, and she passed around two specimens, in perfect condition, which were pressed last summer in her fashion. Perhaps your Jack may as well give you a hint of it.

Her plan is to take a sheet of thin cotton-batting and lay the flowers carefully on it, covering them with another sheet, and then putting the whole under slight pressure. Sometimes, when the flowers are thick, and contain a good deal of moisture, she puts them in fresh cotton the next day, and after that does not disturb them. But in pressing nearly all the small flowers the cotton need not be changed at all, and not even opened until the flowers are preserved.

I noticed that the Little Schoolma'am's pressed flowers had a soft, bright look. She groups the long-stemmed ones prettily in vases, or lays them between sheets of thin glass, and hangs them in her windows in the winter, she says. They haven't at all the poor, pinched, faded, flattened look of flowers prepared in other ways.

The Little Schoolma'am presses green leaves and ribbon-grass in the same way, keeping their color perfectly; and she told the children that when they wanted to pile a number of these double cotton layers together, it was better to lay a sheet of blotting-paper in between the sets. Sometimes she lays tissue paper between the flowers and the cotton; but it is of the thinnest kind.—St. Nicholas.

Practical farmers in France hesitate not to give the preference to clover and lucerne over the best meadow hay, even where pastures are famed for their fattening properties. Clover is the best stimulant for young horses intended for sale, developing precocity and producing growth, while imparting vigor. The horses of the Department of the Loire are in much request by purchasers, and the cause is attributed to the habit of feeding the animals with clover during winter. For draught horses, as soon as clover is given with hay, the ration of oats is always diminished. In the stocking of clover and lucerne, or making it into bundles, the separated leaves and flowers are carefully put aside and form an agreeable diet for stock. Ordinarily they are wetted and mixed with bran; but it is better to mix them with raw roots. These leaves, etc., are exceedingly nutritive and exercise a tonic influence on sheep and a stimulus during the coupling period. They are viewed also as a preventive of abortion, and promote the secretion of milk.

THE SIN OF DRUNKENNESS. When we acknowledge that drunkenness is a disease, let us not forget that it is also a sin. No man is forced to become a drunkard; he drinks to excess with his eyes open, with his hands free, with his conscience upbraiding him, until he drowns it in the bowl. He voluntarily surrenders his reason, his taste, his judgement, his health, his character, and his conscience on the altar of appetite, and is not that a sin? He knows that his habits of indulgence will disqualify him for the performance of the duties of child, husband, parent, and citizen, and while they deaden the faculties which should elevate him above the dumb beast, they intensify and quicken all the animal and brutal instincts of degraded humanity; and is not that a sin?

LEGAL TAUTOLOGY. Some idea of the legal formulas may be gathered from the following specimen, wherein if a man wishes to give another an orange, instead of saying, "I give you that orange," he must set forth his will and deed thus: "I give you all and singular, my estate and interest, right, title and claim, and advantage of and in that orange, with all its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pips, and all rights and advantage therein, with full power to bite, suck or otherwise eat the same orange, or give the same away, with or without its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pips, anything heretofore or hereinafter, or in any other deed, or deeds, instrument or instruments of what kind or nature soever, to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding."

Class composed of the towns of Charleston, &c., at Charleston Town House, on SATURDAY, Sept. 1st, at 2 P. M.

THE PRESIDENT INVITED TO MAINE.

Our Associated Press despatches give the text of a telegram from Governor Connor courteously and cordially inviting the President of the United States to extend his New England tour to the Capital of our State. President Hayes, accompanied by his wife and members of his Cabinet, attended the centennial celebration at Bennington, Vermont, last week and spent the Sabbath at Secretary Evarts' country seat at Windsor. On Monday they crossed the line into New Hampshire on a trip to the White Mountains, whence Governor Connor has invited them to come to Maine. In thus extending the hospitalities of our State to the Chief Magistrate of the Union, Governor Connor has performed a very graceful and fitting act, and if the President and his suite shall accept the invitation—as to which we are not advised at this writing—they will meet the cordial welcome which the people of Maine never fail to extend to the guests of the State, and the respectful attentions which our patriotic citizens are wont to bestow upon the official representatives of our National Government. It is a matter of just pride to our people that on the former occasions of a Presidential visit to Maine, all political divisions and differences were merged in the universal desire to manifest respect for the high office of Chief Magistrate of the United States, and political controversy, however earnest and exciting, will never be permitted by the people of Maine to make them forgetful of what is due to warm-hearted hospitality or the honors with which loyal citizens are pleased to express their devotion to their country.

Senator Blaine has very politely and fittingly supplemented the Governor's official invitation by extending to the Presidential party the hospitalities of his commodious house, thus appropriately accompanying the official courtesies with private entertainment at the hands of our United States Senator who resides at the State Capital.

THE GREENBACK LUNACY.

We do not think any word of caution is required in this community in regard to the proposed public advocacy here of what is called the "Greenback Doctrine" of finance, and we think the projectors of this novelty for Bangor must seriously misapprehend the honesty and intelligence of our people. We can see no object in the presentation of such doctrines here, unless it is intended—as in the case of Somerset County, where the Democrats have adopted the Greenback candidates—to draw a few thoughtless people into the Democratic net. The "Greenback Doctrine" briefly stated, is that as United States greenbacks will now purchase commodities of comfort and luxury, the Government should set its printing presses at work so as to distribute an unlimited quantity of such paper among all classes of the community. As there is to be no pretence of any ability of the Government to redeem these notes, the theory is precisely the same as proposing that an individual shall enrich all his neighbors and friends by distributing handsomely engraved and formally signed bank checks without having any funds to his credit in the bank. In either case the experiment would result in demonstrating the "market value" of waste paper.

A WILD SCHEME.

[From the Providence Journal.]

Were it not that former utterances have somewhat prepared the way for the acceptance of the alleged speech of Judge West, of Ohio, nobody would believe that a Republican candidate for Governor in such an intelligent commonwealth, could possibly have said that which is telegraphed as the language of Judge West. His theory goes the entire length of government interference in everybody's business, and fixing by statute the price of labor. A given per cent of the net earnings of the employer is to be distributed among the workmen. This of course necessitates not only a commission to supervise the books, but to adjust the relative proportion of earnings of the different workmen. In short, every business man and every corporation would be under control of, or have to buy off a government inspector.—Nobody believes that business could be carried on in this way. The spirit is, commercially speaking, as bad as the details would be multitudinous and ineffectual. If Judge West is reported with any degree of accuracy, he certainly is unfit—perhaps as conspicuously unfit—for a responsible office as the Democratic nominee. Whether these men have any faith in the principles they enunciate, or are only planning for luck by coddling the strikers, the spectacle is not an assuring one. Difficult as it may be to frame a plan by which labor and capital may be brought into more harmonious relations, surely this scheme is as wild as it would in operation prove futile. Candidates for office it is said are sometimes careless in the promises they make, but this is playing with fire which goes much beyond the appointment of a rural postmaster.

THE "FRAUD" PLATFORM.

The Boston Advertiser about the time of our State Convention exhibited great deal of bad blood, and strongly hinted its desire to see the Republicans of Maine defeated because they refused to follow its instructions in framing their platform. It even flung out words that sounded very much like threats, but the performance of the Democrats at Portland has convinced it that Republicans can have no excuse for deserting their party. It says:

They are silent on all the issues of the day; they insult those whom it was their policy to cajole, by denouncing the installation of the President as a fraud, and in reference to what the President has done they speak in an offensively patronizing and ostentatiously sulky tone. It is much better so. The Republicans may have been divided before, but they must unite against such an atrocious platform. Nobody perhaps would have believed in the sincerity of the Democrats if they had pretended non-partisanship. In their resolutions as well as in their candidate, but discontented Republicans might have persuaded themselves to vote for Mr. Williams under the circumstances. We do not see how they can do it now. Those who might have believed are men who believe the President is rightfully where he is, and that he has done right. The Democrats ask them to say that he is there by fraud, but that they will not make any factious opposition to him at present. By this amazing blunder the Democrats have smoothed the way for the Republicans, who will have an easy canvass and a handsome victory.

A CARD FROM GEN. NICKERSON.

SEARSPORT, Aug. 18, 1877.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

On my arrival here this morning, I was shown an article in your issue of Friday, copied from the Boston Traveller, which does great injustice to Mr. Blaine as well as myself. I never offered Mr. Blaine any money for any purpose and consequently he never did and never could have refused it. If Mr. Blaine opposed my promotion, it must have been that a over his opposition, which would show a standing in the estimation of President Lincoln beyond which I ever claimed. It could not have been from political considerations, as I was a Democrat at the time. But Mr. Blaine took some credit for it, as I have a letter congratulating me upon my promotion and expressing his great satisfaction. There has never been a particle of hard or ill feeling between us. I am indebted to him for many attentions and have none but the kindest feeling toward him, personally, as he knows, and many of his friends also know. The statement in the Traveller is false, and I venture to say that Mr. Blaine neither approves it or thanks the writer. Truly etc.

F. S. NICKERSON.

HOW MUCH THE TEXAS PACIFIC WANTS. The Philadelphia Times, an Independent Democratic Liberal Republican Administration Policy paper, thus sets forth the programme laid out at the Texas Pacific Directors' meeting in Philadelphia last week:

In alluding to the subject of Congressional aid, the directors of the Texas Pacific Road give a statement of what they ask from Congress. They propose an open highway to [illegible] hundred miles in length, from Fort Worth to San Diego, which, with the road now completed, shall be under government control. Last Winter political disputes prevented the consideration of their project, but they hope to gain favorable consideration at next Winter's session. They propose to limit the Government's liability to $2,500,000 per annum, for which a first mortgage is offered upon the road and eighteen million acres of land. Government bonds bearing five per cent interest are asked at the rate of $35,000 per mile of road constructed, $5000 per mile to remain in the Treasury of the United States. It is a private enterprise, they say, designed to secure to the people, without cost to the Government, a national highway, the construction of which at this time is believed to be a [illegible] for the employment of surplus population. The recent discovery of coal mines, and the development of rich agricultural and mineral lands upon the line of the road are referred to as reasons for the opening of this great southern highway.

A Washington despatch recently announced that the editor of the New Orleans Democrat, the most virulent of the White League organs, had enjoyed a most satisfactory interview with the President, and expressed his confidence in the wisdom and beauty of the Southern policy. Since that interview the editor has returned home, and this is what his paper has to say as to the political situation in Ohio and Maine as proofs of the completeness of the Democratic triumph in the country:

"While large credit is due the President for his honesty and sagacity in leading and compelling the surrender of his party, it cannot be denied, indeed, it is confessed by the most honest of them, that the real victor in that contest is the Southern Democracy, aided by their brethren of the North."

We call attention to a note from General F. S. Nickerson, published on this page. We had just learned from another source that the paragraph copied from the Traveller was published in that excellent paper under a misapprehension. We gladly give place to General Nickerson's explanation, remarking at the same time to the General that if Mr. Blaine did aid in securing his promotion, and if he is, as he avows, indebted to Mr. Blaine for many attentions, and if he "has none but the kindest feelings for Mr. Blaine," he took a very queer way of showing his feelings by coming down from Boston to the Democratic State Convention and as the Associated Press report had it, "fiercely attacking Blaine."

Ingenious Washington correspondents speak of Mr. Blaine having written to a friend in that city suggesting that the Labor question would override the Southern question and that he meant to get on top of the Labor question. And Republican papers are found to copy this ridiculous nonsense! Mr. Blaine has written no letter about the Labor question, and had he would scarcely have written himself down such an ass as these imaginative correspondents make him. — Kennebec Journal.

The Commercial furnishes spicy and interesting matter just now for such devoted readers as Bion Bradbury and Chairman Pillsbury. We never before knew our neighbor could be so enthusiastic.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY.

Arrival in New Hampshire

FABYAN HOUSE, N H, Aug 20 The Presidential party arrived at Wells River, Vt, to-day at 10 40 o'clock by a special train from Windsor, the home of Secretary Evarts. The party consisted of the President, with Lucy and son, Miss Emma Foote, Secretary Evarts and two daughters and Miss Noyes, Col Estey of Vermont, and Chief Justice Gray, of Mass Here they were received with hearty cheers by a large crowd of people, which drew near to the rear of the car. President Hayes spoke as follows:

Fellow-Citizens,—It will be impossible for us to stay long enough to have a general shaking of hands, for the audience is too large, and the distance to be traveled by us too great to admit of it. You must be satisfied with having the same advantages that I have that of seeing. You came here to see me and I came to see you and to use the expression of the late President Lincoln, I have to say that we have altogether the best of the bargain. In making these acknowledgments it is not the purpose to enter into any political discussion. We are gathered here of all political parties and while we may differ as to the ways and means, we shall all agree that the general Government must and should be administered for the common prosperity and common benefit of all the inhabitants in our country. We may make mistakes we shall make mistakes but they will be made from lack of judgment or knowledge. I trust it will not be thought they arise from lack of disposition. I must leave you now but I take great pleasure in introducing to you Judge Key, a man that has been greatly wrong in the past but is greatly right now

Judge Key, Mrs Hayes and other members of the Cabinet came forward, and were cordially greeted. On board the train the party was received by Gov Prescott and party. Gov Prescott receiving them with these words of welcome:

Mr President —You are upon the soil of New Hampshire. In behalf of all our people I extend to you, your family and Cabinet Ministers and all who are accompanying you a cordial greeting and a hearty welcome. It will be our endeavor to make your stay with us pleasant and agreeable

A Reception at the Fabyan House

FABYAN HOUSE, N H, Aug 20 The Executive party after a pleasant trip to the summit of Mt Washington, returned here to pass the night reaching the Hotel at about 7 o'clock. At 8 o'clock supper was provided and an hour passed in the enjoyment of the meal after which the spacious parlor of the House was visited and a reception of a half hour's duration holden by the President Cabinet, and ladies. The march from the dining hall was led by President Hayes and Mrs Gov Prescott, Gov Prescott and Mrs Hayes Secretary Evarts and lady followed by members of the Cabinet and invited guests. After all had been received including prominent citizens from all parts of the Union, the following

Address was Presented to Mr Hayes

by A Carrol Dana of New York:

To His Excellency, Rutherford B Hayes, President,

Sir —The undersigned, temporarily sojourning here but citizens of different States and of different political ideas and associations desire to express to you their entire satisfaction with the course you have pursued in the exercise of the office of President—your continued and persistent efforts to reform the civil service of the country, meet with unqualified approbation—and your so-called Southern policy seems to us not only wise in itself but a faithful execution of the Constitution and laws as you found them. That Providence who orders the destinies of Nations may give you all needed strength and wisdom to sustain you and guide you to the end in performing your arduous duties is our sincere desire

(Signed) Beach Vanderpool, New Jersey, Wm Menzies, New York A Caroll Dana, New York Harry Conrad Philadelphia, H N Lockwood Philadelphia, Wm Sloan, New York Otis Norcross Boston, Ira M Harrison New Jersey, J Havemeyer, New York, S Marsh, New Hampshire, J C Hare Philadelphia, James Low New York, H Schibart New York, Dr D S Smith New Jersey and 35 others all representative men of different States in the Union,

Mr Hayes Replied

that he was gratified to receive such an expression of the confidence and esteem of so respectable a company of gentlemen

A Musical Entertainment

of rare excellence was then offered the company consisting of a selection by Madame Louisa Cappiani of Milan Mrs G C Fernald, of Boston, and John W Hutchinson of the Hutchinson Family accompanied by Mr. John W Odlin pianist and Blaisdell's Orchestra, all the company joining in singing "Auld Lang Syne" at the close. The official visitors then formally withdrew, though many of the visitors and guests passed a social hour afterward. The evening was a brilliant one, visitors and guests filling the parlors richly attired, and elegant costumes were everywhere seen. The party was joined to-night by Col E C Bailey and Col J F Pecker, who will accompany the President during the remainder of the trip. To-morrow at 7 45 by a special train the party will pass through the notch to North Conway visiting points of interest and returning will dine at the Crawford House at 11 15 leave Crawford's at one o'clock for Bethlehem where teams will be furnished, and riding through the town to Littleton, the cars will again be taken for Plymouth, where the party will spend the night

MARINE DISASTER

The Steamer Katahdin in Collision

BOSTON, Aug 20 The heavy fog which hung over the harbor to-night made navigation somewhat dangerous. The Steamer John Romer in coming up the harbor about six o'clock collided with the Bangor steamer Katahdin which was bound out. The fog was so thick both steamers were close on each other before seen but the only damage was to the bow of the Romer and that will amount to only about $25.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Great Strike in the Coal Regions.

NEW YORK, August 20, Pennsylvania specials say that 400 idle workmen of the Pennsylvania Coal Company have been requested to resume work at the old prices and trust to the judgment of the Company for higher wages. They declined, fearing a trap. They were compelled to be idle by the burning of one of the company's engine houses a fortnight ago and would have returned to work if asked in the usual way, but they refuse to sign any binding agreements

In the Lackawanna region the desperation of idle miners cannot be described. Fifty thousand men are striking and great trouble is feared next winter. The Union collieries of the Schuylkill Company are raising $25,000 to assist the strikers in the Lehigh region. The miners meetings denounce blacklegs, and the coal breakers are placarded with notes ordering operations to cease. Any attempt to start the collieries on the north side, to-day, it is feared, will cause trouble

Wholesale arrests are being made in the Shamokin region and the outlaws are threatening vengeance. Attempts were made to fire the Mineral Coal Company's collieries Saturday night. The bridge of the Northern Central Railroad was fired, but the flames were extinguished. Some employes of Cameron, Luck, Fiddler, and Hickory Ridge collieries desire to return to work, but this would precipitate grave trouble.

The Molly Maguires from Locust Gap fought the strikers near Mount Carmel — Two strikers were severely injured, and three Mollies were thrown down the mountain side and probably killed.

THE INDIANS.

Sherman in the Yellowstone.

NEW YORK, Aug 20. A Chicago despatch says Gen. Sheridan believes Joseph's band will attempt to strike the head waters of the Tongue river through the Yellowstone Park. Gen. Sherman is in Yellowstone Park with only five men as an escort and much alarm is felt for his safety.

The Nez Perces.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug, 20. The hostile Nez Perces Indians are reported yesterday as still camped at Hole in the Rock, a stage station in Idaho. They have destroyed the telegraph line in the vicinity and stopped all travel over the road for several days. A large party of teamsters have camped and are fortifying themselves a short distance from the North Snake River bridge. It is reported that the stock of the Indians is in a poor condition and they are stopping at the stage stations to recuperate, using the proprietors' barns and grain.

Scouts after the Hostiles

FORT HALL AGENCY, Aug 20 Captain Bainbridge, with a company of scouts enlisted from the Bannocks and Shoshones left here yesterday for the hostile camp at Hole in the Rock station, about 90 miles north. Accounts received yesterday state the hostiles had possession of the station and allowed no one to pass either way. They told those who made an attempt to turn back and they would not be molested. The telegraph lines are down. All the young Bannocks and Shoshones at this agency who can raise a gun have left this morning to fight the hostiles.

FOREIGN NEWS.

THE EASTERN WAR.

Russell About the Russian Headquarters.

LONDON, Aug 20 A News correspondent at Sistova understands that for the future the army and the Imperial headquarters will remain united. The Emperor is pleasantly quartered in a good house outside of the village and seems in excellent health and spirits. The night's poor health contrasts to that at Biela and the health of the suite is much improved.

A stream of reinforcements is flowing now steadily through Roumania. It is expected that both the guard and grenadier corps will be in Bulgaria by the first week in September. The staff here calculate that 180 000 men are now actually on the march to reinforce the army. The next battle about Plevna is meant to be decisive and hence the delay for ensuring success. The fourth cavalry division is detached on an independent expedition for the purpose of stopping Turkish communication with Sophia by blocking the Orchanie Pass, the main thoroughfare and easiest marching route over the Balkans. It is felt here that this could have been done earlier but if successful now it will have good results

A Denial

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug 20 The Servian diplomatic agent here has declared that Servia has no knowledge of the intention of Russia to send an army through Servia. He denies that Servia has refused to participate in the war and states that no troops have been sent to the frontier

A Critical Situation

LONDON, Aug 20, A despatch from Canea, Saturday, says there is a panic there. Two Turks having been murdered their companies demanded revenge. The Turks from the country came to town armed, despite the Governor's proposition. The situation is critical.

Servian Intervention

A correspondent at Sistova says he understands that Servian intervention is now certain. The activity of Turks at Plevna in sending out cavalry reconnoissance seems as though they had the intention of taking the offensive. The weather is clear again and the roads rapidly changing from mud to dust. The recent rains have not materially affected the health of the troops

Marching on Tultscha.

GALATZ, Aug 20 Seven thousand Turkish or Egyptian troops disembarked at Sulina and are marching on Tultscha, which is weakly garrisoned.

The Turks from Silistria are said to be marching against Tchernavoda and the Russians are hastening to Ismail, where reinforcements are expected

Greece Preparing for War.

ATHENS, Aug 20 The Ministry have sent out orders to fortify the chief forts with all speed so as to have them finished by the end of October. Similar orders are given respecting the preparation of men-of-war. Still nobody in Athens believes in the immediate outbreak of war

Turkish Atrocities.

BERLIN Aug 19 Germany's representations to the Porte in regard to atrocities by Turkish troops are based on the Geneva convention, which according to the German view not only binds the belligerents to observe its provisions toward each other but gives neutral cosignatories the right to insist on its faithful observance. Germany's note will be communicated to the powers.

Horrible Barbarities

A correspondent of the London Times at Zeel Saghra telegraphs the 16th:

I went with the Turkish army on the 11th to the chain of the Baghaz. At Leoell two hours and a half from the Pass, I saw the bodies of 120 persons murdered by Cossacks and Bulgarians. Among the victims were two women—one very beautiful and young. She had been killed and thrown naked into a pool of water. I saw families including children, who had been thrown in wells. The houses of these people and the handsome embroidered dresses of the women showed that they had been rich. In one house the women and young girls had been shut up and subjected during 10 days to outrages by the Cossacks and Bulgarians. The Bulgarians when they heard of the arrival of the Turkish army at Chain Baghaz carried off the Turkish women and children from 3 to 20 years of age and fled to the Balkans. The victims of whom I spoke above were all collected together and murdered in succession, many more were butchered.

WAR REPORTS AND RUMORS.

The Egyptian brigade near Sulina detains Gen, Zimmerman in the Dobrudscha with a larger force than was intended, and shows the effect of bolder counsels at Constantinople.

A later telegram from Mukhtar Pasha gives the Turkish losses in Saturday's battle at 130 killed, 630 wounded, and the Russian loss at 1500 killed.

Hobart Pasha has left a subordinate to superintend the embarkation of the Caucasians and has gone to Sinope with most of the fleet. It is believed he goes thence to the Danube

The Province of Salonica and the coast district from Olympia to the terminus of Adrianople has been declared in a state of seige by the Porte. Arms continue to arrive there and volunteers literally from the four corners of the globe, but owing to the state of affairs in Bulgaria there will be no movement at present.

A German squadron has gone to Salonica in consequence of officials who are implicated in the murder of Consuls.

The Porte is preparing winter clothing for the troops and taking other measures in anticipation of a winter campaign.

A telegram from Constantinople says Count Zichy has assured the Porte that Austria has not altered her policy relative to Servia

The North German Gazette confirms the report that the representatives of the Turkish embassy here relative to the alleged Russian atrocities have met with a most unfavorable reception from the German Cabinet

ABYSSINIA

Peace.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 20 Information from Massowah confirms the report that Gordon has suppressed the insurrection in Darfor without bloodshed. Gordon is expected at Sennar immediately to negotiate peace with Abyssinia. The King has sent an amicable letter accepting an interview.

Last evening a party consisting of Messrs S O Treat, H C Bliss, A M Mason, G A Crosby, T. B. Chandler, of this city and Messrs. Mudge and Fairfield of Boston, accompanied by several ladies, were out rowing by moonlight. HORSE THIEF ARRESTED Saturday night the stable of Mr George C Crawford, of Brunswick, was broken open and his horse and valuable harness and top-buggy, owned by his son, W. F Crawford, mail agent between this city and Boston, were stolen. On making the discovery Sunday morning Mr C immediately telegraphed to the City Marshal of Portland notifying him of the theft and then started his son Henry and a man by the name of James Johnson on towards Portland in a carriage. Marshal Bridges having got on the track of the team arrested his man at Scarboro in a field picking blueberries Sunday morning. He was somewhat surprised when told that he was arrested, but promptly owned up that he had stolen the team. Just as the Marshal returned to Portland with the man and team young Crawford and Johnson arrived in search of the stolen property, which is valued at $500. The man gave his name as George Haskell and confessed that he stole the valuable Knox colt from Bowdoin last week.

GRAND EXCURSION The committee who are now making the arrangements for the grand excursion complementary to the Bangor Band to Fort Point, Northport and Belfast are making every exertion to make the affair a success and we have no doubt that it will be one of the finest excursions of the season. On arrival at Fort Point a boat race will take place between the following boats C B Sanford, Queen City, and Oldtown's the last being manned by a crew of Indians. On Saturday the 18th inst the Republicans of Lincoln held their caucus, the same being very full and free. Harrison Piper Esq, and A W Weatherbee, Esq, being the rival candidates. On the first ballot for delegates, Piper had 59 Weatherbee had 83 On the second ballot Piper had 100 Weatherbee 62. At this point Mr Weatherbee in person withdrew from the contest and moved that the ballot go of the delegation for Piper be elected by acclamation, which was done. It was a happy thought when W. P. Andrews of Cincinnati determined to publish the "Bazar." Culture in matters of toilet taste is no less requisite than culture in art, literature, etc., for the ladies. The "Bazar" is many-sided, and fills all these requisites. Full of news about society drama, music literature and art, it is the cheapest "guide" extant, when one dollar a year is the [illegible]

MANY who are suffering from the effects of the warm weather and are debilitated are advised by physicians to take moderate amounts of whisky two or three times during the day. In a little while those who adopt this advice frequently increase the number of "drinks," and in time become confirmed inebriates. A beverage which will not create thirst for intoxicating liquors, and which is intended especially for the benefit of debilitated persons, whether at home or abroad, is Dr. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic. Containing the juices of many medicinal herbs, this preparation does not create an appetite for the intoxicating cup. The nourishing and the life-supporting properties of many valuable natural productions contained in it and well known to medical men have a most strengthening influence. A single bottle of the Tonic will demonstrate its valuable qualities. For debility arising from sickness, over exertion or from any cause whatever, a wineglassful of Sea Weed Tonic taken after meals will strengthen the stomach and create an appetite for wholesome food. To all who are about leaving their homes, we desire to say that the excellent effects of Dr. Schenck's seasonable remedies, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, are particularly evident when taken by those who are injuriously affected by a change of water and diet. No person should leave home without taking a supply of these safeguards along. For sale by all druggists.

THE TRUE ECONOMY is not in buying the lowest price articles. The best is cheapest. So with the fine cultivated and plantation grown spices imported by Messrs Pinckney, Jackson & Co., of London and New York. I have just received a shipment of these goods and would specially invite the attention of all consumers to them. These spices are not only absolutely pure, but are without a doubt the finest ever imported into this country. I confidently recommend them as being really of unusual merit

DROPPING CORN.

BY MAURICE THOMPSON.

Pretty Phoebe Lane and I,
In the soft May weather,
Barefoot down the furrows went,
Dropping corn together.

Side by side across the field
Back and forth we hurried;
All the golden grains we dropped
Soon the plowshare buried.

Bluebirds on the hedges sat
Chirping low and billing;
"Why," thought I, "not follow suit,
If the maid is willing?"

So I whispered, "Phoebe, dear,
Kiss me"—"Keep on dropping!"
Called her father from his plow,
"There's no time for stopping!"

The cord was loosed,—the moment sped,
The golden charm was broken,
Nevermore between us two
Word of love was spoken.

What a little slip, sometimes,
All our hopes releases!
How the merest breath of chance
Breaks our joy to pieces!

Sorrow's cup, though often drained,
Never lacks for filling,
And we can't get Fortune's kiss
When the maid is willing.
